People

Our employees are the heart of our company. Over 8000 people from around 90 countries work for us in 43 clinics and institutes in over 120 different professional roles. We know that each employee has their own individual needs, which is why we offer on-site childcare, personnel accommodation and reduced-price sports facilities, among other things. Almost half of our employees work part-time and many benefit from flexible working hours. As part of interdisciplinary teams, our colleagues care for 40 000 inpatients and 572 000 outpatients each year, with humanity, dedication, ambition and agility.

Progress

We're ready for the future of medicine. We are working together with the University of Zurich and ETH to build a campus with cutting-edge infrastructure in the heart of Zurich by 2030. We will be opening an outpatient health centre for Swiss and international patients at Zurich Airport in 2020. Both locations will be served by the most modern warehouse in the Swiss healthcare industry. Our daily research and work with ground-breaking technology makes us the leading hospital for highly specialised medicine. Our employees are pioneers in the areas of healthcare and quality of life.

Development

It's not only our patients who benefit from our advanced knowledge and extensive experience, but also our employees. We train 700 apprentices and students each year. We offer our specialists structured further training and career planning. We train managers and teach professional and social skills at our own education centre. Our employees are specialists in their fields who support each other practically and intellectually on a daily basis. They help each other learn and work together to achieve outstanding results.
